

COL. WOODCOCK HONORED.

Col. Woodcock was last night tendered an ovation by a number of citizens at his home on Lawrence avenue, in honor of his appointment as assistant adjutant general of the department of Kansas of the Grand Army of the Republic.

By appointment the participants met at the Douglas Avenue house and at about 9 o'clock were driven in carriages to the residence of the colonel. After alighting, the Italian band, which was in attendance, played an air upon the piazza, at the conclusion of which the recipient of the service made his appearance at the door. Capt. Ott presented the company as a number of citizens and friends who had come to congratulate him upon his recent appointment. They were invited in and each warmly grasped by the hand and most heartily welcomed.

After the reception was fully over, Col. Woodcock arose and in an impressive and feeling speech heartily thanked the delegation for their expressions of kindness and friendship and assured them of his gratitude for the same.

He took it that the demonstration was not intended for him as a citizen and a man, but on account of his military and naval career which he had been appointed to assist in representing. He had not solicited the office nor did he desire it, but had accepted it as a matter of duty.

The little speech was well received and was replied to by Mr. Geo. Stinson, who ended all that had been said by the colonel except that he wished to make a correction and have it known that the object of the demonstration was for the purpose of showing the esteem and honor in which the gentleman personally was held by his comrades and friends.

Music was now heard and after two or three selections, the company repaired into the commodious department and regaled the inner man with a nice lunch.

A general good time was then had with social chat and music by the band and upon the piano; the evening being brought to a close near midnight by the singing of the old war songs, "Marching Through Georgia," "The Empty Chair," and "Tenting Tonight," and the playing of "Home Sweet Home." Col. Woodcock has a fine record as a soldier, has held many positions of trust and honor in civil life and is one of Sedgwick county's most able and popular citizens.

He was during the war, first lieutenant of Company G, 9th Kansas Cavalry, and was commissary of Southern Alabama and Western Mississippi, and did notable service during the days when men, to succeed, had to be made of good metal. He is now colonel of 2nd regiment of Kansas National Cavalry, lieutenant colonel of the Grand division of the state of Kansas, of the Knights of Pythias, and ex-treasurer of Sedgwick county. The appointment would surely seem as though it had fallen into good hands, and the office will be honored by one so competent and worthy.

A POWERFUL SYNDICATE.

A charter for the "Cimarron Town Company" has been applied for and when granted, as it will be soon, this city will have inaugurated another mammoth business undertaking in which all citizens can feel a purchasable pride.

The purpose of the company is to build towns in southwestern Kansas and the capital stock is $500,000.

The incorporators are C. D. Perry, N. F. Niederlander, G. L. Boone, G. H. Blackwelder, A. W. Oliver and M. W. Levy.

Those acquainted with the foregoing names will recognize at once the strength that this organization will necessarily have; as each and all of these persons are men of wealth and influence and men of business, well fitted to a considerable degree in the development and the history of this state. Their names are a tower of strength in business and financial circles of the city and state, and as well as being among the most popular and favorite citizens socially. That the company must be a great success is a foregone conclusion.

WICHITA SCHOOL NOTES.

To the Editor of the Eagle.

Our schools have closed for a week's vacation which will doubtless be fully enjoyed by teachers as well as pupils.

Teachers' reports show that the attendance has been regular and the school work vigorously prosecuted during the past term.

A number of our teachers will spend their vacation out of the city. It is a regret to some that the time will not permit a visit to New Orleans.

LABOR NOTES.

WILKESBORO, Pa., March 14.—There is a feeling of dissatisfaction growing among the miners laboring in Hazleton district and a portion of Carbon county at present, and the indications are that a general demand will soon be made on operators for a reduction of the 10 per cent wage taken from them in January. New lodges of the Knights of Labor are being instituted. The strikers are rapidly growing. The laborers are rapidly growing.

CHENEY CHATTERINGS.

CHENEY, March 14.

To the Editor of the Eagle.

The petition in circulation to the commission to appropriate money to build a bridge across the North Ninnesaw, on the section line of Cheney, is meeting with considerable opposition, a majority of the people in that vicinity want the bridge on the half section line. They claim it can be built cheaper and will be a benefit to the community.

Work is looking up and mechanics are all busy. One-half of the trade in Cheney comes from that section and our business men should interest themselves in that matter.

The reformed class of the state of Kansas will meet in Cheney next May. This is one of the most intelligent body of ministers in the state.

E. K. Gobin will move his law office to the building north of the Grand View hotel, just across the street from the old state and loan office, in connection George Clark has sold his property and intends going to California.

H. F. Good, our trustee, says some of the women folk think he is mighty iniquitous. Harry Smith is following the occupation of the prodigal son—herding hogs. A receiver in the Witmer & Hathaway or Lovjoy & Glasscock embroiled.

Frequent complaint is made by grangers against the wheat buyers. They claim that they will offer ten cents less than they intend to pay and will raise one cent at a time. Several farmers told me they intended hauling all their grain to the Fort Scott road, although it is ten to fifteen miles further.

Friday the case came up for trial in the district court and his attorneys asked for a change of venue. The judge granted it and sent the case to Cherokee county.
